Accessibility Statement

1. Our Commitment

WholeMind Resilience CIC is not a public sector body, so we're not legally required to meet the Public Sector Bodies (Websites and Mobile Applications) Accessibility Regulations 2018. We're committed to aligning with the WCAG 2.2 AA accessibility standard where possible across our website and services, because accessibility matters to the people we work with — this is a genuine, ongoing commitment to align with good practice, not a claim that every part of our website or every venue already meets it.

2. Our Website

Our website is being designed with accessibility in mind from the outset, including:

- Avoiding poor colour contrast (for example, no white text on orange or similarly low-contrast combinations)
- Clear, readable text sizing
- Clean, uncluttered layout with plenty of white space

As the website develops, we'll continue to test and improve against WCAG 2.2 AA guidance.

3. In-Person Venues

We deliver sessions in a range of settings — community buildings, rented rooms, client offices, and occasionally outdoors. Accessibility varies by venue, and we can't guarantee a single fixed standard everywhere.

We're committed to being clear in advance about what accessibility measures are available at a specific venue (for example, step-free access, seating, parking, or quiet space), so you can decide whether it will work for you.

If you're planning to attend and have specific access needs, please contact us beforehand at info@wholemindresilience.co.uk so we can discuss reasonable adjustments, and we'll do what we can to ensure accessibility, or discuss alternatives.

4. Feedback and Involvement

We welcome feedback on accessibility at any time, at info@wholemindresilience.co.uk.

As WholeMind Resilience develops, we're committed to inviting people with lived experience of accessibility barriers to contribute to our advisory board, to help shape how we improve. Where we identify that a particular group is unable to access one of our services, we're committed to working to develop a suitable alternative.

5. Review

This statement is reviewed annually, and updated as our website and venues develop.

6. Board Adoption

Adopted by the Board of WholeMind Resilience CIC — see the Policy Ratification Schedule.
