RESILIENCE

Privacy Notice

This notice explains how we collect, use, and protect your personal information. Version 2.

1. Who We Are

WholeMind Resilience CIC ("we," "us," "our") is the data controller for the personal information described in this notice. Our registered address is Carrow House, 301 King Street, Norwich, NR1 2TG. If you have any questions about how we use your data, contact us at info@wholemindresilience.co.uk.

2. What We Collect, and Why

What we collect	When	Why (lawful basis)
Name, email, phone, and other pre-course or booking details you give us	Enquiry/contact form, bookings	To respond to you and deliver a booked service (contract / legitimate interests)
Payment details	Booking a course or session, or making a donation, via Zeffy	To process payment (contract) — see Section 3 for how Zeffy's role differs from our other suppliers
Health & wellbeing information you choose to share	Pre-course assessment forms, coaching, group sessions	To deliver a safe, appropriate service (explicit consent — special category data, Article 9 UK GDPR)
Funded / concessionary place applications	Where relevant	To assess and administer funded places (legitimate interests / consent; explicit consent, Article 9 UK GDPR, where this includes special category data such as health or ethnicity)
Marketing sign-up details	Website or social media sign-up	Your consent (individuals) or our legitimate interests (organisations), until you unsubscribe
Post-service feedback and impact evaluation	After participation in any WholeMind Resilience service	Legitimate interests (service improvement) and, for wellbeing measures, explicit consent (Article 9 UK GDPR); anonymised for impact reporting
Session recordings	1:1 or group sessions, online or in person, only where you agree	Your explicit consent, including consent to use in professional supervision
Photographs and video	Sessions and events, only where you agree	Your consent — see our Photography, Video & Social Media Consent Policy

What we collect	When	Why (lawful basis)
Safeguarding concerns	If we are worried about someone's safety	To protect people from harm (legitimate interests, vital interests, or where the law requires it; for sensitive information, substantial public interest — safeguarding, Data Protection Act 2018)
Facilitator and volunteer applications, including DBS information	When you apply to deliver sessions or volunteer with us	To recruit safely (contract / legitimate interests; criminal record information only with your consent)

You don't have to give us your information, but without your contact details and pre-course information we can't book you onto a course or make sure it's safe for you.

We hold no contact details for children directly. Where a young person attends a session with a parent or guardian, or through a school, we hold the parent's or school's contact details — not the child's.

3. Who We Share It With

Processors (who act only on our instructions)

We use the following organisations to help us run our services. Each is only permitted to use your data to provide their service to us, under a data processing agreement:

- Microsoft 365, including OneDrive, SharePoint and Microsoft Forms (UK-based storage) — records management and internal file storage, including sensitive or special category data such as health and wellbeing information
- Eventbrite — free taster sessions and events only. Eventbrite may transfer data to the United States as part of processing, under Standard Contractual Clauses and equivalent safeguards
- WhatsApp Business (WhatsApp LLC) — direct contact and community messaging through our business phone
- Freelance facilitators delivering your course — they receive only the information needed to deliver it safely, under a Service Level Agreement
- An invoicing provider — used for corporate and organisational bookings (professionals & teams, systems & providers), separate from our public payment system; to be confirmed
- Vercel Inc. (website hosting) and Supabase Pte. Ltd. (storage for website documents and course audio) — when you visit our website, download a document or play a course recording, they automatically record basic technical information such as your IP address and browser type, to run and secure the service (our legitimate interests)

Where you agree to a session being recorded, the recording may be shared with our professional supervisor for supervision purposes only.

Independent controllers (who you deal with directly, under their own terms)

For all public, individual bookings and payments — courses, sessions, and workshops — for fundraising donations, and for email subscriptions, we use Zeffy. Zeffy is a data controller in its own right under UK GDPR — not a processor acting on our instructions — meaning it independently decides how it handles the personal data it collects from you at the point of booking, payment, donation, or subscription. Because Zeffy is our main public payment route, this means most of the contact and payment data you give us as a member of the public is initially collected under Zeffy's own privacy terms, not ours, before being shared with us as the organisation you booked with.

Zeffy is governed by the law of Quebec, Canada, and its own privacy policy explains how it handles your data, including any transfers outside the UK. We recommend reading Zeffy's privacy policy before making a booking, payment, donation or subscription through it. We do not use Zeffy to collect health, wellbeing, or other special category data — pre-course assessment forms and any information shared during a session are collected and held directly by us, in Microsoft 365, not through Zeffy.

We do not sell your personal data. Beyond the organisations named above, we only share it with anyone else — for example, a local authority — where the law requires it, or where there is a genuine safeguarding concern. See our Safeguarding & Child Protection Policy for how that works.

4. International Transfers

Most of your data stays within the UK. Where a processor (Eventbrite) transfers data to the United States, this is done under UK Government–approved safeguards — Standard Contractual Clauses and equivalent mechanisms — which are designed to ensure your data receives an equivalent standard of protection. WhatsApp LLC, which provides WhatsApp Business in the UK, is based in the United States; transfers are made under the safeguards in WhatsApp's own data processing terms. Zeffy, as an independent controller based in Canada, handles its own international transfers under its own policy; this is not something we control, and we encourage you to check Zeffy's privacy policy directly if this matters to you.

Our website providers, Vercel and Supabase, may process basic technical information about website visits (such as IP addresses) in the United States or Singapore, under Standard Contractual Clauses and equivalent safeguards.

5. NHS and Public Sector Commissions

Where WholeMind Resilience delivers services commissioned by an NHS body, local authority, or other public sector organisation, that organisation typically remains the data controller (or joint controller) for data relating to its own patients, service users, or staff, under its own information governance arrangements.

WholeMind Resilience does not currently hold a completed NHS Data Security and Protection Toolkit (DSPT) assessment, and does not process NHS patient-identifiable data or connect to NHS systems. Where a commission would require this, arrangements will be agreed and documented separately with the commissioning organisation before any such data is shared.

6. How Long We Keep It

We keep personal data only for as long as necessary for the purpose it was collected. A summary:

- Financial records: 6 years from the end of the financial year
- Client and participant records, including pre-course assessment forms: 7 years from last contact
- Safeguarding records: at least 7 years from last contact, or until the individual turns 25 if a young person was involved
- Enquiry data where no booking follows: 12 months, then deleted
- Marketing/subscriber data: until you unsubscribe
- Session recordings: 12 months

- Facilitator and volunteer recruitment records: DBS certificate information for as long as required or until replaced by an updated version; other records while you work with us, plus 6 years
- Website technical information (such as IP addresses): kept by our website providers for a short period, under their own settings
- Photographs and video: while in use for the purpose you consented to

A full retention schedule is maintained internally and available on request.

7. Your Rights

Under UK GDPR, you have the right to:

- Access the personal data we hold about you
- Have inaccurate data corrected
- Ask us to delete your data, in certain circumstances
- Restrict or object to our processing of your data
- Receive your data in a portable format
- Withdraw consent at any time, where we rely on consent

To exercise any of these rights, or to make a complaint about how we have handled your personal data, contact us at info@wholemindresilience.co.uk. We will acknowledge a complaint within 30 days and respond without undue delay. You also have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ico.org.uk) if you're unhappy with how we've handled your data.

8. Marketing

If you're an individual, we will only send you marketing communications if you've given us clear, opt-in consent, and you can unsubscribe at any time using the link in every email. If you're contacting us as a representative of an organisation, we may occasionally contact your organisational email address about relevant services on the basis of legitimate interests, and you can opt out at any time.

9. Changes to This Notice

We will update this notice as our services develop, and will highlight any significant changes.
